Second Sunday in Ordinary Time

Weekday Cycle II

“Come and see.”

A mondegreen occurs when someone mishears a word or phrase, giving it a completely new meaning. The lyrics to songs are particularly susceptible to mondegreens. Bob Dylan’s, “The answer, my friend, is blowin’ in the wind”, becomes: “The ants are my friends, they’re blowing in the wind.” “Oh, say, can you see by the dawn’s early light” becomes: “Jose, can you see by the donzerly light.” Many people apparently believe “donzerly” is a real word. And famously on the long-running BBC comedy show The Two Ronnies, a labourer walks into a hardware store and asks for what sounds like four candles, until the frustrated storekeeper eventually realises the man is asking for “fork ‘andles – handles for forks”. Understandably, children are prone to mishearing, especially when it comes to religious phrases: “Our Father, who art in heaven, Harold be thy name” is a classic. Or in the Hail Mary: “blessed art thou a monk swimming”. We are all liable to mishear and misunderstand.

Today’s readings are about the importance of hearing properly, about listening with the heart. The boy Samuel mishears as he is lying on his bed. When the Lord calls him, he mistakenly believes it is his guardian Eli calling him. Only after the third call does Eli finally understand that what Samuel is really hearing is the call of God. Samuel’s response – “Speak, Lord, your servant is listening” – indicates the prerequisite for the perfect disciple: a commitment to listening to the voice of God and carrying it out. In fact, we are told that not only was the Lord with Samuel, but that the Lord let no word of Samuel’s “fall to the ground” – an indication that Samuel was so in tune with the Lord’s voice, with the Lord’s mind and intentions, that everything Samuel spoke rang true and came to pass. Authentic hearing results in authentic speaking and acting.

In the Gospel, the two disciples of John the Baptist are also in listening mode. They have committed to following John in response to an inner call from God. And yet now John, in effect, sends them away to listen to the voice of another – Jesus, “the lamb of God”. It’s not that they have been mishearing by listening to John. But John knows that a deeper listening is now needed, that there is someone better to listen to, someone – as John would go on to say – more powerful than he, someone filled with God’s Holy Spirit. The two disciples go home with Jesus at about 4 p.m. and spend the rest of the day with him, listening to him. And Jesus’ words, like Samuel’s, are effective: in those few hours, they transform Andrew so dramatically that he is able to say to his brother Peter: "We have found the Messiah." They have found what their inner voice had called them to look for.

How do we become good listeners to the Lord? How do we allow ourselves to become transformed by God's Word – by Jesus Christ, the Word made flesh? Perhaps primarily, like those two disciples, we need to spend time with the Lord. That's not a skill, it's simply a discipline, a commitment.

But there are ordinary human skills that can help us tune in to the voice of God and allow it to change us. As with listening to another human being, when listening to the Lord, we need to get rid of distractions – the sound of TV and radio, switching off the phone perhaps. The best listening happens when we are alert but attentive: putting our body in an upright but comfortable position helps. Keep an open mind – the "open ear" of today's psalm – try to set aside preconceived ideas or expectations, because it's easy to mishear and misunderstand, to impose our own meanings, our own preconceived ideas. And don't interrupt – listening means exactly that.

Communicating with God isn't the same as holding a two-way conversation with a human being, but the essentials are the same. It's about relationship, trust, openness, quality time and listening with the heart to what is really being communicated. God's Word is ultimately a person – Jesus Christ. When we listen to the Lord, when we encounter the Messiah, our lives are changed. Because the Lord doesn't communicate facts or data – the Lord communicates God's self: God's love, God's life, God's mercy. When we allow ourselves to "hear" those things, be touched by them, they evoke a response in us which goes beyond mere words: they change our lives.

Gift Aid

A number of our parishioners have queried their contributions for the last tax year, especially those who paid by Standing Order. The missing information has now been forwarded to the Gift Aid Coordinator in Leeds, who will make the necessary adjustments. Please accept my apologies for the error.

If there is anyone who is able to take on the role of Parish Gift Aid Coordinator, that would be a great help. I am looking for someone for the tax year beginning 6th April 2021. Please let Fr Declan know if you are able to assist.

Apostles` Creed

I believe in God, the Father Almighty, Creator of heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ, His only Son, our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Spirit, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, died and was buried;

He descended into hell; on the third day He rose again from the dead;

He ascended into heaven, and is seated at the right hand of God the Father Almighty; from there He will come to judge the living and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Holy Catholic Church, the communion of Saints, the forgiveness of sins, the resurrection of the body, and life everlasting. Amen
